

Scale your team
and business with on-demand
insurtech expertise
from OIP

Our entire tech team has undergone extensive training in every aspect of the policy life cycle and has experience working across all major industry platforms.

There is no need for you to delve into the nitty-gritty of Borderau and claims reports, submissions, binders and quoting processes, or explain the difference between risk address and risk supplier address. We are experts in both insurance and technology domains.

Whether you need a team of insurtech experts for the long haul or want to tap into a specific skill set for tasks such as data migration or tying up loose ends in a software development project, OIP has you covered.

Choose your model:

Team-as-a-Service (TaaS)

When you need a heavy lift or long-term support, choose TaaS. This model is the right fit if you need a highly-skilled team of insurtech professionals to tackle projects as the demand arises. Instead of hiring multiple full-time experts, you get access to a diverse team with the skills needed to complete the project. You only pay for the resources you need, avoiding unnecessary costs.

Staff Augmentation

If you already have a team of your own that you are looking to expand with additional experts, choose our Staff Augmentation services. This model is a good option when looking to fill gaps in your team, and it makes it possible for OIP tech experts to work as an extension of your in-house staff.

Overview: TaaS vs. Staff Augmentation

	TaaS	Staff Augmentation
Choose when...	You need support with a specific project.	You want to supplement your in-house team.
Flexibility	Pre-assembled team with a specific skill set based on your project needs and desired outcomes.	Scale your teams up or down based on project requirements or changing business needs.
Control	We assemble expert full-feature teams, each uniquely crafted to match your specific project requirements.	You chose roles and individual team members with a specific set of skills and expertise.
Integration	Minimal onboarding time and seamless integration with your workflows as our team is fully trained in insurance processes.	Minimal onboarding time and seamless integration with your workflows as the augmented staff works as an extension of your in-house team.
Cost benefits	Leverage a dedicated team of insurtech professionals for the entire duration of a project. Pay only for the resources you need.	Tap into a pool of insurtech professionals on an as-needed basis and avoid the costs associated with internal hiring and training.
Insurance expertise	100% of our tech team has completed mandatory training in insurance, engages in ongoing education and understands all aspects of the policy life cycle.
